A natural composer, Chris Cole has scored for an award winning short film, commissioned documentaries for Channel 4 and the BBC, and commercials. "The ultimate one man band," Cole is the master of piano, drums, cello, Spanish guitar, accordion and vibraphone to name but a few. His music hints at Vivaldi's lilt, Ligeti's playful melodrama, and Portishead's dynamic ambience. With a sense of the poetic and epic coupled with an astute understanding of the filmmaking process Chris is a composer with an edge.

EXTRACT FROM PRESS RELEASE FOR "OUR WORN SHADOW" RELEASED ON ACUARELA RECORDS (JUNE 2006):

"Manyfingers (aka multi-instrumentalist Chris Cole) plays piano, drums, cello, Spanish guitar, accordion, vibraphone and other assorted instruments to create a veritable whirlwind of sound. The record takes its cue from Fourtet but adds Yann Tiersen style accordion and string arrangements played with the intensity of Godspeed You Black Emperor at their ground shaking best. The cyclical motifs of Philip Glass and Steve Reich are notable ensuring that the album presses all the right neo classical buttons - often comparable to the best work of Max Richter, Rachel's, Sylvain Chauveaux and Terry Reilly. 'Our Worn Shadow' is more than a new dawn for post rock, folktronica, electronica, neo classical or whatever you want to call it - its a life changing record that ultimately defies categorization. Hands down the most innovative, soulful and passionate release of 2006."
